It's a unique piece that is sure to lend a luxe touch to your décor theme.

Material: Brass

Dimension(W:H:L): 2.5x2x3 inch

Position: Crawling

The dazzling baby Krishna Brass Gods statues:

- The brass statue of Bal Gopal is seen crawling in the above statue.
- The cutesy baby Bal Gopal is seen holding Ladoo in both hands while crawling.
- One of the major crafts from Odisha artifacts is the society which is involved in making brass sculpture known as "Kansari". The brass has found a pride place in the lands of Odisha.

The lovable baby Krishna: "The Butter Thief"

- Bal Gopal is the infancy form of Lord Krishna. The eighth incarnation of Lord Vishnu.
- Right from his birth, he has shown signs of a divine being, widely known as his "Bal Leela".
- He is widely popular as Ladoo Gopal. Here the ladoo is a round ball of Butter, one of his favorite food.
- He loves eating butter, since childhood. So he started stealing it from his own house as well as from the neighbors, which gave him the name of "butter thief" all around.
- Gou" means "cow" and "pala" means the protector, which forms the word, Gopal.

Placement possibilities and merits of the fascinating Gods statues:

- The idol is most effective on the Northeast corner of the house/office. Make sure that it faces east to west or vice versa while placing it.
- Couples expecting a lovely child or any childless couple are believed to be blessed.
- Lord Krishna is the god of love and compassion, keeping an idol of it would boost the love and affection between the family and between the couple.
- Keeping a Bal Gopal brass statue at home or office spreads positivity and spirituality around it.
- The Temple of your home/office/institute is also a promising place to place the divine statue.
- You can prefer to place him on the console, ascent, the showcase of your living room, and on the sideboard.
- It is a charming gifting option for your loved ones on their special occasion.

A tiny guide to care of the tiny Gods statues:

- Brass is a durable and strong material that does not get rust easily.
 - It has excellent corrosive resistance. But it needs a good deal of maintenance.
 - Wipe down the surface of the statue with a soft cloth over the surface of the Gods statues.
 - The cleaning should be followed every second day to get rid of the dirt.
