Description: Black and White Astabhuja Dancing Ganesha Painting. An encompassing black and white is always a statement with a golden theme. And make a splash with contrasting colors to ornament the wall.

Material: Tasar fabric

Dimension(HW): 36x24 inch

Weight: 0.1 kg

Patta means cloth, Chitra means picture, thus Pattachitra is, painting on a piece of cloth. The events of mythology, folks, nature, animals are depicted in Pattachitra.

The colors used in the painting are purely made from natural ingredients. The white color extract from seashells which were powdered and then soaked to make the white paste. The color green is made from the green leaf and green stones. Red is made from a local stone called Hingula. Another stone named Khandaneela was used to extract the color blue. The yellow is made from, stone named Hartal. Black is extracted by burnt coconut shell. These five colors are also called Pancha Tatwa. Every color has its significance, as the white illustrates Laughter (Hasya), Red stands furious, astonishment in yellow, The hair of the mouse and Buffalo used to make brushes and tied to the end of a bamboo stick. The floral border makes the art astonishingly beautiful.

Known as the god of the beginning, Lord Ganesha. Gana means people, Pati means Lord, thus his name stands for "Lord of the people." He is known for removing obstacles from his devotee's paths and leading them to success. He symbolizes wisdom, understanding, and intellect.

Placement: As he is the embodiment of all devotees, keeping his pictures of him in-home or office will shower uninterrupted divinity in life. North, west, and Northeast are considered to be the most favorable zone for keeping the picture. Jewell colors and black creates a deliciously dark contrast on the background.

Care: Use a soft brush or cloth to wipe the picture.

Description: Colorful Maa Lakshmi Pattachitra Canvas Painting. Splash of contemporary color to pop up on any of your walls. A charming option to spread divinity all around.

The art of Pattachitra dates back over a thousand years. A traditional art depicts stories of Hindu deities. It displays stories through motifs, design, and various patterns.

The smearing of colors is purely natural. Five colors white, red, yellow, green, black, known as Pancha Tatwa been used to color the canvas. The white color is procured by soaking, drying, and churning seashell, The red color is derived from a stone named Hingula, yellow is obtained from a stone Haritlal, Green is secured from leaves and green stones, and black is obtained from lampblack, or either from burning coconut shell. 120 more colors are used by mixing of the Pancha Tatwa color. The hair of, mouse, buffalo, and Keya roots are used for brush for the painting. It is tied to a bamboo stick as a brush handle. The flower border on the painting makes it more impressive Laxmi is the household goddess of most Hindu families. The word Laxmi is derived from the Sanskrit words Lakshya. She is the goddess of wealth and prosperity and fortune. Goddess Laxmi rises out of the churning of the milky ocean, known as "Khira Sagar" during the tug of war between the god and demons, seated on a full blossomed lotus. She herself choose Lord Vishnu as her husband.

Se has always been associated with Lord Vishnu. Whenever Lord Vishnu, took birth on earth in human form, goddess Laxmi also incarnated as human form along with him. When Lord Vishnu incarnated as Vamana, Goddess Laxmi incarnated as the Padma. When Lord Vishnu incarnated as Parasurama, Goddess Laxmi incarnated as Dharani. When Lord Vishnu incarnated as Lord Krishna, Goddess Laxmi incarnated as Rukmani. When Lord Vishnu incarnated as Rama, Goddess Laxmi incarnated as Sita.

The pictorial depiction shows her with four arms, holding a lotus in both upper hands. Right hands gesture the Varada mudra which bestows wealth and prosperity and the left in Abhay mudra, she bestows courage and strength to the devotee. Sitting upon a full blossomed lotus, often in the blue ocean. Always with a calm and soothing expression.

She resides in places of hard work, bravery, and integrity. It is very auspicious to have a picture of her in office, shops, wherever monetary transaction takes place. In a festival like Dewali, you can consider it as an uncommon gift to your dear one or for your employee.

Care: Use a cotton cloth to wipe down the surface

The floral border makes the art astonishingly beautiful.

Krishna's favorite thing is playing his flute, and whenever he plays his flute the Gopikas of Vrindavan joins him enjoying, dancing, and his divine love Radha was lost in his eyes of beloved. It is said that in the summer season Lord Krishna with his Beloved love Radha and other Gopikas, sail through the Yamuna river in Nauka(boat) and enjoy the breeze.

Gopis are those saints and sages who penance for years to become devotees of Lord Krishna, in incarnation. Gopis are spellbound in joy whenever they see Lord Krishna playing the flute. Their expression of love towards him is like a devotee towards his God. Bhakti is more blissful than liberation.

The above picture depicts the wonderful portrayal of that majestic moment of Lord Krishna Nauka Vihar. Their names can not be taken without each other, perfect definition of love via soul is represented in the picture. Each character is defined with clear dark lines, characters apparel, and fashion sense with detailed work.

Care: Use a soft cloth to dust the painting.

Every day cowherds girls used to go to the banks of Yamuna to take a bath. They assemble together holding each other's hands, singing, and bathing, deep in the water. Before going into the water they put their clothes near. Noticing bathing in the river fully naked is disrespectful, Lord Krishna decided to teach them a lesson, so that they may not repeat the mistake. Krishna stole the clothes of the Gopis and told them to come out from the river in the same way as they took bath.

When Gopis urges Lord Krishna to return their clothes back Lord told them that they disrespect and committed an offense by bathing without clothes in the Yamuna. He asked them to touch their forehead with folded palms and bow down before the god of Yamuna, Varunadeva. Gopis immediately abided by his order without giving a second thought which makes Lord Krishna the most obedient and greatest lover of him.

Everything Lord did was with a purpose behind it. Lord Krishna stole clothes, to set them free from the sin they committed. Like he stole butter from the household because the butter was direct went to Knasa, and children were starving. To give nutrition to every child, he stole and have them with his friends.

Care: For dusting use a soft cloth to wipe the surface of the canvas.
