Product Description

This beautiful model of lord Jagannath, Subhadra and Balabhadra sitting inside a wooden temple is designed of wood and brightly coloured. Lord The three deities are carved out of wood and are incomplete. Jagannath and Balabhadra do not have palms or feet but Jagannath bears sankha (conch) and chakra (discus) whereas Balabhadra bears plough and gada. Jagannath is the ninth incarnation of lord Vishnu in kali yuga and is painted black with two big black eyes and a broad red smile spread across his face. His elder brother Balaram or balabhadra is believed to be the incarnation of the serpent Vasuki and is painted white with big eyes and a broad red smile. Whereas Subhadra is said to be the incarnation of the Shakti, doesn't have legs or hands and is painted yellow with red smile and big white eyes. So bring this model home to worship the supreme protector of the universe along with his companions and fill your house with happiness, prosperity, love and happiness.
